FULL-STACK DEVELOPER

As a curious web developer, I am motivated by creating seamless, user-centric experiences. I take pride in projects like my React movie app, Bello Flix, and ensure solutions are practical and intuitive. My problem-solving approach involves identifying issues, analyzing root causes, and implementing viable options. I value legible, organized workflows with inline comments for team clarity. Rigorous testing and staying updated with tech trends through platforms like X are essential to my process. Effective communication, task delegation, and celebrating successful, user-friendly solutions drive my passion for translating client needs into functional technology.
